LNG16 Organisers appoint Petroleum Economist as the Official Delegate Publication

Petroleum Economist is delighted to announce that The LNG16 Organising Committee have appointed Petroleum Economist as the Official Delegate Publication for the event. As one of the worlds most recognised energy publishing brands, Petroleum Economist has a long distinguished record for providing delegate publications for an event such as LNG16.

Petroleum Economist has also been the official publisher for the triennial conferences organised by the World Petroleum Council, the International Gas Union, the World Energy Council and the forthcoming World Gas Congress 2009.

For LNG16 Petroleum Economist will be producing two energy maps, in addition to the official delegate book mirroring the theme of the conference – LNG. All these publications will be included in the LNG16 delegate bags. The Petroleum Economist team will be at LNG16 with their latest maps, books and publication, ensure you visit our stand.

With 8 months before the opening of the 16th International Conference and Exhibition of Liquefied Natural Gas, Petroleum Economist is in preparation to ensure that their products will deliver the most high-level and up to date information for LNG16.

Ensure you visit Petroleum Economist - stand A64 - at the forthcoming World Gas Congress, 5th-9th October – the Official Publisher for 2009.

Note to editors:

Petroleum Economist has firmly established itself in the sector - publishing a subscription based magazine, an extensive global energy map portfolio including the World Energy Atlas 2009. Plus an online LNG Data-Centre, providing its users with the ability to review and analyse the latest information on all aspects of the LNG industry.
